LISBON, JUNE 10.

IN Consequence of an Order from the King, all Boys who are found out of Service, or destitute of Employment, are sent to the Arsenal, where they will be kept to Work for eight Years, and the Profits of their Labour are to go to the Crown. After the Expiration of their Time they will be set at Liberty, and may then exercise the Trade they have learnt during their Servitude.

Lisbon, June 13. The Commandants of our Vessels of War, the Eagle, and Lion, which are sailed for Tripoli, are charged with a Commission of forming a Treaty of Peace between that Regency and Tuscany; and, in Case of Difficulty, are to bring away our Consul from thence.

Berlin, July 1. Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick finding himself obliged to ask the King's Permission to retire from his Service, his Majesty has been pleased to give his Consent thereto, in Consequence of which, his Highness has just resigned all his Employments and Pensions. [Prince Ferdinand's Retirement from the King of Prussia's Service, is at present a Subject which very much engages the Attention of the Publick. It is asserted, and with very great Confidence, that this Step is the Consequence of an Engagement into which he has entered with the French Court, who have offered him the supreme Command of their Armies, with all the Honours and Dignities which the late Marshal Saxe enjoyed. Such is the Return the German Princes make us!—Nor does the Ingratitude of some Members of the B— Family stop here; for the great Honours lately paid by the French to the Hereditary Prince, afford but too much Room to fear that the Uncle's Resignation may be followed by that of the Nephew's; especially when it is considered that the Uncle's Influence over the Nephew, has already proved superior to every other Connection.]

Copenhagen, July 3. The Marriage between Prince Charles of Hesse-Cassel and her Royal Highness the Princess Louisa, youngest Sister to his Danish Majesty, was Yesterday declared at the Palace of Hestholm, when the Court was assembled on that Occasion. The Mourning was suspended for that Day, and every Lady appeared in Gala. At the same Time the King was pleased to make several Promotions, the principal of which was the Government of Rendsburg to Count Knuth.

Baron Windt, Knight of the Order of Dannebrog, and Grand Master to the Queen Dowager, died here on the 29th of last Month. He was formerly Minister from this to several foreign Courts, and among others to that of Great Britain.

LONDON, JULY 2.

We hear Commodore Byron will be ready to proceed on his second Voyage to the South Seas by the 13th Instant.—The Island so much mentioned, it is assured, lies many hundred Leagues from any Part of the Straights of Magellan.

A Parcel of dried Leaves of a Shrub, the Growth of Georgia, has been received by a Gentleman in Town from his Correspondent at Savannah, which has a Flavour and Taste equal to Hyson Tea, and in Colour a light Green.

July 12. It is said the Ministers all resigned on Thursday after the Letter was over, at which were present her Royal Highness the Princess Amelia, her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales, and the Rest of the Royal Family. The Occasion of their Resignation is said to arise from their not consenting to be dictated to; but whether by Lord B— or Mr. P—, or both, has not yet transpired. They would have willingly laid in, and served their King and Country to the best of their Abilities; but as they were not thought sufficient, they chose rather to resign than be the Tools of any particular Persons.

We hear that a foreign Ambassador has this Week dispatched two separate Couriers to his Court, thought to be occasioned by the expected Changes in our Ministry.

It is very evident, that France harbours no good Intention towards England, as she hath increased her Navy so greatly, that she hath now eighty Ships of War, many of them very large, in the Ports of Brest and Toulon only.—Such Increase of the French Navy is the strongest Proof that they intend to break with us again, as soon as they find a favourable Juncture, since it cannot answer any other Purpose. However, it is said that some Ships of War will be immediately ordered to cruise upon the French Coast, to watch the Motions of their Fleets.

They write from Cadix, that the Fortifications and other Works belonging to that Port are preparing and augmenting with the greatest Diligence, and that Vessels have been dispatched from Naples to Civita Vecchia to fetch Materials for that Purpose.

In the Fire which happened at Halversem, near Utrecht, on the 25th ult. the greatest Part of the Woollen Manufactures, of which they had great Quantities in that Village, was destroyed. A Number of People carried their most valuable Effects to the Church, which, on Account of its Distance, it was expected would have been preserved, but where they had the Chagrin to see them all consumed, whilst many of the Houses from whence they had been removed escaped the Flames. Hundreds of the poor Inhabitants are ruined, and forced to lie in the open Fields. This Fire broke out in the very Spot where a dreadful Conflagration began just forty Years ago, which then consumed the greatest Part of the Village.

The Places which Prince Ferdinand has resigned under the King of Prussia, were Field-Marshal General of the Prussian Armies, Colonel of a Regiment of Foot, and Governor of Magdebourg.

This Morning a Duel was fought in the Green Park, between a noble Earl and a Marquis of distinguished Bravery, but some Persons opportunely coming up, they were parted, without any material Consequences ensuing.

Tuesday last the Lords of Appeal of his Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council held a Court at the Cockpit, Whitehall, when several Prizes, that were condemned in the High Court of Admiralty of England at Doctors Commons, taken in the late War, were also condemned upon an Appeal to their Lordships from the said High Court of Admiralty.

A Native of Batavia in the East-Indies, that is lately arrived in Town from Holland, has made a Proposal to some great Persons for discovering the true Method of distilling Arrack from Rice, in the same Manner as is now practised by the Dutch and Portuguese.

It is reported, that some of the Chiefs on the African Coast would not accept the Presents from England offered them by his Excellency Governor O'Hara.

July 15. Fresh Complaints are said to have been transmitted Home from our Factories in Africa, against the French Governor of Goree.

Extract of a Letter from Constantinople, dated June 9.

"From the twenty-second of last Month to this Time, there has not a Day passed without an Earthquake, and some of the Shocks have been so violent as to precipitate the Fall of many Edifices which had been shattered, under which several Persons have been buried. The Grand Signior, in order to prevent further Accidents of this Kind, has ordered every Thing to be taken down that seems to threaten the least Mischief. Among the Ravages which this dreadful Calamity has occasioned, the Cupola of the Imperial Mosque which the Sultan Mahomet caused to be built after the taking of Constantinople, is thrown down, as well as another Mosque near the Adrianople-Gate. The Palaces of Ali-Pacha and Tchorlu-Ali-Pacha, and the Hospitals and Colleges thereto belonging, are greatly damaged. The Tcharchis and Bezestens, which are large Markets arched with Stone, and which cover as much Ground as a City of a moderate Size, are destroyed; the Arches and Roofs which are left standing being so shattered that they must all come down. Visir Han, one of the largest Edifices in this Capital, and the Asylum of a great Number of Merchants, who deposited there all their valuable Effects, is entirely thrown down, as well as the Hans belonging to the Confectioners and Glass-Merchants, and a great Number of People perished under their Ruins. Many public Baths are demolished, that of the Seven Towers is thrown down; and the City Wall has been so shook and damaged by the Fall of the different Towers with which it was flanked, that it must be taken down to the Ground in many Parts. The old Seraglio is much shattered, and Part of it overthrown; that where the Grand Signior resided, and indeed his Highness's Apartments, and those of his Women are greatly damaged. The first Care of the Government on this melancholy Occasion was to get the People out of all the Places which threatened Ruin, and to guard the Avenues; and next to search for such as were supposed to be buried in the Ruins.—Many Towns and Villages at some Distance have suffered equally with us.

This Day there was a grand Board of Treasury and Council, at the Cockpit/Whitehall.

We hear, that in Case the Lord Chancellor resigns, he will be succeeded by Lord Camden, which cannot fail giving the most sensible Pleasure to every Lover of Liberty and his Country, especially to those whose Bosoms glow with the warmest Sentiments of Gratitude and Veneration for this inflexibly upright and patriotick Judge, for the noble Stand he made against General Warrants, Seizures, &c. &c.

Yesterday there was a numerous Council at the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Conway's House in Pall-Mall, at which Count Bothmar by Desire attended; the Purport of which is said to be relative to the intended Marriage between the King of Denmark, his Master, and her Royal Highness the Princess Caroline Matilda, his Majesty's youngest Sister.

It is said that the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick's Return to England will be hastened, on Account of some important Advices received from the Continent.

They write from Paris, that the Chevalier Charles Edward had given Orders to sell off all the Estates left him by his deceased Father in France, the Produce of which, it was expected, would amount to eighteen hundred thousand Livres.

Last Tuesday Evening arrived at Plymouth his Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester, to take upon him the Command of the 13th Regiment of Foot now in Garrison at that Place, of which he was lately appointed Colonel.—His Royal Highness was saluted by the Garrison Guns.—The same Night he set out for Mount Edcumb. The Day before his Highness dined at Saltren, the Seat of John Parker, Esq;.

The Cargo of the Duke of Gloucester East-Indianman, consists of 1200 Pieces of Nankin Cloth; 444,900 lb. of Bohea, 37,400 lb. Congou, 89,100 lb. Singlo; and 70,700 Pounds of Souchong Tea; six whole Chests, 24 half ditto, and one Box of China Ware, besides other Goods.

They write from Spain, that they never remember to find a Prospect of a good Harvest in that Kingdom, as they have this Summer.

The Empress of Russia has founded an Establishment for the Education of young Ladies, in Imitation of that of St. Cyr in France, and endowed it with 2,500,000 Rubles.

A young Fellow, about a Fortnight ago, married a young Woman, Housekeeper to an eminent Tradesman in this City; soon after which, he told her he had an Estate in the Country, and produced a Letter, wherein he and his Wife were invited to settle there. Upon this she left her Place, and having a little Money in the Stocks sold out, packed up her Clothes, and her Husband took them away on Saturday, pretending to carry them to the Inn, but did not return; and on Sunday he sent her a Letter, acquainting her that all he had said about his Estate in the Country was entirely false, and that he should never see her more; whereby the poor Girl is stripped of all she had been labouring for many Years, having nothing left but the Clothes on her Back.

Last Thursday the following odd Affair was discovered at Poplar. Two Persons had cohabited together as Man and Wife upwards of 36 Years, and kept a public House in that Parish; but a short Time ago the Wife being in a Decline, went to her Brother's in Essex for the Benefit of the Air, and after some Days, sending herself home, told her Brother, that the Person she cohabited with was not her Husband, but a Woman; that they were Partners in the Business, by which they had acquired between three and four thousand Pounds. Part of which was in Bank Stock; As soon as the supposed Wife was dead and buried, her Relations set out for Poplar, to claim her Share of the Effects; but the pretended Husband refused to account with them. However, being hard pressed, owned that what the Deceased had declared was true; but early on Saturday Morning having obtained Woman's Apparel absconded. The supposed Husband had served most of the Parish Offices, &c. The Cause of their living together in the above Manner, was owing to a Disappointment each had met with when young in Affairs of Courtship.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Paris, to his Friend in Dublin.

"The Count de Lally, apprised of the Disgrace which threatened him, endeavoured not to avoid it; he chose to expose himself to a Captivity, the Rigour of which he foresaw, though not the Duration, rather than avoid it by a Flight, which his Accusers would have, without Doubt, construed as a tacit Acknowledgement of their Imputations. He went to Fontainebleau in the Month of November, 1763; there he wrote to the Duke of Choiseul a Letter, in which the Language of Innocence and Truth appears in a strong Light, as well as that Confidence which is inspired by a blameless Conduct. Here follows the Copy of the Letter.

"My Lord,
"The Rumours which prevailed in Paris, have brought me here; my Enemies will never be able to terrify me, because I am conscious of my Innocence, and of your Equity.—The King is Master of my Liberty, but my Honour is under the Safeguard of the Law, of which he is the Protector. I do not ask, my Lord, who are my Slanders; they are known to me; but of what Kind their Slanders are, that I may obviate them, and repel them with Materials which will cover their Authors with Shame. I have brought here my Head and my Innocence, and shall wait for your Commands—I am, my Lord, &c."

July 17. Nothing can prove our present critical and dangerous Situation so much as the indefatigable Endeavours, used by the Favourite and his Confederates, to prevail on Mr. Pitt, to come into the Ministry; which shews, that they are at last convinced, none but him can keep us from falling into that Pitt, to the Brink of which their weak and despicable Measures have brought us, by which the Hands of our Enemies have been so strengthened that they are now ready to strike a Blow, which one can ward off but he who hath already once snatched us from the Jaws of Destruction; whose patriotick Heart will not suffer him to argue his Want of Health, Age, Infirmities, or any other Plea, in Order to excuse himself from serving his Country, when he sees it in such real and imminent Danger.

The Stock Jobbing News is, that the King of Prussia demands three Millions of Money, and half of our Conquest in America.

A few Days since a Soldier, who long had been the Terror of all the Sailors at Portsmouth, was at last encountered by a Sailor on the Beach at that Place.—They fought for near an Hour, with such Ferocity, that both Parties soon after expired on the very Place of the Engagement.

On Friday last a young Lady, an Heiress in Aundel-street, made an Elopement with a young Officer in the Guards; it is supposed they are gone to Scotland to be married.

An historical Account of the Eruption of Mount Vesuvius, in the Year 1765, from a large Work published at Naples, by Order of the Cardinal Archbishop of that City.
IN Order to form a right Idea of Mount Vesuvius, as it was on its Summit and the Parts adjacent, in the Year 1765, one must suppose a Mountain in the Shape of a Sugar Loaf, whose Point being taken away, leaves a Sort of Platform, hollow to the Depth of one hundred and thirty Feet, forming a Cup or Funnel, whose Circumference is computed as two Thirds of a Mile, of about 5624 * Paris Feet. Its Border is wide enough for two Men to march there a-breast. One descends from thence to the Bottom of the Funnel, through a Soil full of Chinks, from whence exhales a suffocating sulphurous Smoke, and sometimes Flames, whose Colour shews them to be of the same Kind. Sometimes this Ground rises very near as high as the Border of the Cup; some of its Chinks often close, but others are perpetually opened. From the Bottom of this Funnel appears another Opening, which is continually growing larger; a thick Smoke frequently issues from it; one hears a Noise there like the Boiling of many large Cauldrons on a very ardent Fire, or rather like that of a Torrent dashing violently on the Rocks, down which it tumbles; and at certain Seasons are discovered there, not only a Number of Paths, which the Fire has made in the Sides of the Abyss, but also Torrents of inflamed Matter as dozing as melted Crystal.
* A Paris Foot is three Quarters of an Inch more than the English.

From the QUEBEC GAZETTE, of July 25, 1766.
Copy of a Letter from the Merchants of Canada, in Answer to (a circular) one received from a Committee of Merchants in London.

GENTLEMEN,
BY the last Mail from New-York we received your Letter of the 18th of last March, informing us of the Repeal of the Stamp-Act, for which we thank you.

As it would not have been attended with any Advantage either to yourselves, or to the Rest of your Fellow-Subjects, so it was not necessary to enumerate the Difficulties which you have had to compass an Affair in which you, Gentlemen, and the Americans in particular, and the British Nation in general, were greatly interested. Nevertheless, we think with you, that you are justly intitled, for the Pains which you have taken for the common Interest, to the Privilege of giving your Sentiments with that Freedom which is consistent with our Connections, as good Friends, as Fellow-Subjects, and as Traders. In that Character you have a Right to utter your Thoughts upon our past and future Conduct in regard to Matters which concern the whole Community whereof you and we are Members. But permit us, Gentlemen, to observe, that we are at a Loss to conceive what Part of our Conduct you allude to in that Passage of your Epistle, wherein you tell us, that we must know better than to imagine that any well regulated Government will suffer Laws, enacted with a View to public Good, to be disputed by lawless Rulers with Impunity. If your Allusion is to the spirited Remonstrances made by some other Parts of America, for the Repeal of an Act which was a publick Grievance, you are mistaken in the Application: And we wonder very much how you could be ignorant of the Submission with which that oppressive Act was received in this military Government. As we are not less sensible than our Neighbours of the ill Consequences which would have attended the Execution of that Act, neither would we have been wanting in our Duty to ourselves, and to our Fellow-Subjects by a Silence on that Head, had we been under the same Advantages of Government. For it is our unanimous Opinion, that no Measure could be worse concerted, nor more full of fatal Effects, than that very Act; which appears to us to have been proposed by the Enemies both of the Colonies and of the Mother-Country; for as there is a natural and reciprocally convenient Connection between the Mother and her Daughters, whatever affects the one, must necessarily prejudice the other: So, though we did acquiesce, we must candidly acknowledge that it was mere Necessity, and not our Inclination, which induced us to a Compliance; and therefore we are not intitled to any Merit on that Score.

We will readily allow, that there is no Government so perfect but what may some Time or other establish Laws which are new. But give us Leave to ask, Gentlemen, if the Laws so enacted should be owing either to Misinformation, to Mistakes, or to the Frailties of the human Mind, whether the Opposers of such Errors in the Conduct of the most important Affairs of the State deserve the reproachable and disgraceful Appellation of lawless Rulers?

As it is not just, neither should it be tolerated, that without Proof of Incorrigence, tumultuous Force shall be encouraged by a Part to fly in the Face of Power established for the Good of the Whole. But, we confess our Ignorance of what we stand accused of by this Passage; and as we know of no Sort of Reason for such a publick Accusation, we beg, Gentlemen, that you will point out in what Manner, and when, a Part of us hath encouraged a tumultuous Force to fly in the Face of Power, that when we are made sensible of our Offence, we may know how to make suitable Reparation. Till then we cannot think of exerting our Endeavours to cancel the Remembrance of flagrant Breaches of publick Order; because we do not know of their ever having had any Existence here.

As we have the warmest Attachment to the Mother-Country, which Nature can possibly admit of, you may be sure, Gentlemen, that both Affection and Gratitude will urge be conspicuous in our Conduct; both from a natural and convenient Connection; but not in particular on the Account of the Repeal of the Stamp-Act, which we look upon as highly necessary for the Interest of the Nation; and therefore we consider it as an Act of Necessity, not of Grace, as you seem to suggest, by calling it an incontestible Proof of the Moderation of the Mother-Country. However, tho' we be in that Point of Sight, we shall nevertheless entertain Sentiments the most favorable upon the Occasion; and conduct ourselves in such Manner exactly as become good Subjects, desirous of our own Welfare, the Good of our Country, and the Happiness of Mankind.

We are sensible, that under Providence, we are indebted for this happy Event, to the Justice of the Grievance, and to the Regard of his Majesty for the Happiness of his Subjects, which we shall never doubt of: And could we breathe a Wish here, it should be, that the Nation may be as certain of the Attention of his Ministers, to whom the bad Consequences of the ill judged Stamp-Act may serve as a Lesson.

As you are pleased to say, that if the Americans had acquiesced with the Law, and that the Representatives had shewn as they ought, the Relief would have been more speedy; and that you should have avoided many Difficulties, as well as the late unhappy and distressing Retrograde our Account. Permit us, in our Turn, to remark, that we differ in Opinion with you so much, as to think the contrary would have happened; and that if the most spirited Opposition had not been made, the Act would never have been repealed. In which Case, though you might have avoided the Difficulties and Reproaches you speak of, it would have been attended with more disagreeable Consequences to yourselves, and to the Rest of the Nation. This Resistance to Measures destructive to a commercial and manufacturing People, will be a Lesson to us and to our Posterity: And, animated by this Example, by the most just and constitutional Motives, by the Patronage of the best of Princes, and by the Attention of the British Legislature to the common Welfare, we shall, as they occur, most dutifully enumerate our Grievances, and hope to experience the Truth of what you have advanced, that if by any Means Laws are or should be enacted, detrimental or seemingly oppressive to any Part of the British Subjects, the British Legislature will at all Times, with the utmost Tenderness, consider every Grievance, and redress them the Moment they are known. In the Interim, give us Leave, Gentlemen, to observe, that we think it pity, as well on the Account of publick Tranquillity, as of publick Advantage, that Matters which so essentially concern the Happiness of a commercial People are not considered with greater Attention by those who are duly qualified to judge of them; which, in our humble Opinion, would prevent those many and disagreeable Consequences which happen from an inconsiderate Determination upon that important Point.

Nothing on our Parts shall be wanting to impress the Minds of our Fellow-Subjects with the most dutiful Attachment to our most gracious Sovereign, a just Submission to the Laws, and of Consequence, a due Respect for the Legislature; from a thorough Conviction, that whilst we thereby promote the Tranquillity and Felicity of that Community whereof we have the Honour to be Members, we shall advance our own. As this is not less our Inclination than our Duty, we could wish that nothing prevented our compassing so desirable a Task. But, however Measures may appear to you to have been taken, with a View to the public Good, there are some of a different Stamp and Tendency: At least it appears so to us, from what has lately been published here, about raising exorbitant Duties in a Manner the most unsuitable to the Commerce of Canada; and of such a Nature that if the Scheme for raising those Duties should be put in Execution, we are unanimously of Opinion, that such a Measure will entirely ruin our Trade, and oblige us to quit this Country. The Consequence of which, you are better able to conceive, than we can describe in the Compass of a Letter. And as these and other Inconveniences have been pointed out in the publick Papers, we beg Leave to refer you to them; and to observe farther, that it happens quite mal a propos to overburthen and distress one Part of America so very soon after the Complaints made, and the ill Consequences which have attended a Conduct of the same Nature in another Part.

The Repeal of the Stamp-Act is of publick Service, by which all share in the Advantage arising from the Event: And therefore both on that Account, and on the Account of the Grievances we ourselves complain of, we see no Room for such a Profusion of Encomiums as your Letter is full of, in regard to Clemency, publick Spirit, Abilities, Firmness of the Administration, Humanity, Prudence, Patriotism of the Generality of those who compose the Legislature, and Magnanimity: And at a Time too, that the British Legislature was provoked by the most irritating Measures from the Conduct of many on our Side the Water. A Conduct which we protest against, as we are innocent of the Accusation, as well as ignorant of the Tendency of your Letter, which appears to us to be written more in a ministerial Style, than in that of a Friend and Merchant. But though we cannot well account for your Mode of Diction, we will, with all the Tenderness of Friendship, suppose your Meaning to be good, though the Expression be very refined, and therefore both from Inclination and Gratitude, we shall profess ourselves, Gentlemen,

Your most obedient and obliged Servants,
For a Number of the Merchants in Canada,
JOSEPH CAWTHORNE.

PORTSMOUTH, September 4.

By the Eastern Post we are informed, that just before he left Falmouth, in Calco-Bay, which was Tuesday last, some Persons had come there from Fort-Halifax, who brought an Account of a Number of Indians, supposed about 300, came down upon the Inhabitants that are settled above the Fort, the Beginning of last Week, who had burnt several Houses, destroyed all the Grain that they met with in the Way, and the Inhabitants were obliged to flee to the Fort for Protection. A more particular Account of these Villains Proceedings we hope to have in our next.

BOSTON, August 25.

We hear that some of the Towns in the County of York, have instructed their Representatives to endeavour that Compensation should be made to the Sufferers in this Province, out of the publick Treasury, and others have voted to leave it to their Representatives to endeavour such Compensation, if it shall appear to them to be reasonable.

We hear from Halifax, that the Train of Artillery are ordered Home, and that another Company is daily expected there to relieve them.

Letters from London by Captain Freeman, mention, that the People in England were highly pleased with the Rejoicings in America on Account of the Repeal of the Stamp-Act: And were as much displeased with the insolent Speech, as they term it, of a certain Governor at the Opening of a late Session.

NEW-YORK, September 4.

We have the Pleasure to assure the Publick, that a few Days since, Mr. John Albee received Orders from Mr. Nicholas Ray, of London, to pay on his Account, to the Society for encouraging Arts, Agriculture, &c. of this City, One Hundred Pounds, as a Present from him to said Society, and to be distributed in such Premiums as they shall think proper; this, added to the Sum raised by the Sale of his Pamphlet, and the Part he has taken in England for the Redress of our Grievances, and defending our Liberties to the utmost of his Power, sets in a very strong View, the Force of that inherent Love implanted in the Mind of Man for the Prosperity of his native Country.

September 8. On Monday last his Excellency Sir Henry Moore, Bart. left Albany for Crown-Point, having, before he set out, been pleased to send a Reprise to the Sheriff of Dutchess County, respecting the Execution of William Pendergast, until his Majesty's Pleasure should be known.

PHILADELPHIA, September 12.

Thursday last arrived here Captain Marshal from Antigua, by whom we have Advice, that on the 15th of August they had a smart Gale of Wind at Antigua, which drove a Ship from her Anchors and obliged her to put to Sea, but was got back again without Damage.—The 17th of August a Sloop belonging to Antigua arrived at St. John's from the Grenades, who met with two or three Wrecks on her Passage, but knew not what they were; she also gave Account of a violent Hurricane at Guadalupe and Martinico, whereby fifty or sixty Vessels were driven on Shore, and others obliged to put to Sea, some of which overfet.

Saturday last arrived here the Brig Repeal, Capt. Lawrence, from St. Kitts, who informs us, that on the 15th ult. they had a great Swell there, which obliged upwards of 20 Vessels to put to Sea (but did no other Damage) among which was Captain Lawrence, who as he was returning to Port the next Day, spoke a Sloop bound from Demarara for St. Enslatia, the Captain of which informed him, that two Days before, off Dominica, he had a violent Gale of Wind, which carried away his Boatsprit, but did no other Damage that Captain Lawrence could learn.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated June 12, 1766.

"At present a thorough Change in the Ministry is just about to take Place, of which I can only give you the Outline.—Mr. Pitt is to be one of the Secretaries of State, and the Duke of Grafton the other. Lord Shelbourne is talked of for Secretary for American Affairs, as is Lord Halifax for First Lord of Trade.—The Duke of Newcastle, and his Friends, it is said, are to be left out, and very great Changes are to be made in most of the publick Offices.—Mr. Pitt is undoubtedly a Man of Spirit, and, from his Popularity, is able to do great Things. We shall now see what Figure he will again make at the Head of Affairs, as it is most certain that he is capable of doing more for his Country, than any other Man alive.—To our Enemies his very Name is terrible; and at Home such Savings may be made, and such Schemes may be by him carried into Execution, as might be of infinite Service in lessening our enormous Debt, which is of the last Importance; for the French carried on the last two Years of the War against our Funds, imagining we should never be able to raise Money to continue it, but they found themselves mistaken. The Chancellor, it is thought, will either keep the Seal, or at least get an Equivalent.—I do not find that George Grenville comes into any Place."

Wind at East; he endeavoured to speak her, but she keeping her Course and making no Signal, and a Squall coming on, he stood his Course and soon lost Sight of her.

On the 19th Instant, in Lat. 35: 46. N. Long. 73: 09. W. Captain Peabody spoke with Captain Alexander, in a Ship from London bound for Philadelphia.
